An attempt will be made today to sell the second race in the American cup series. The Shamrock has demonstrated that she is a challenger to be feared. We will be here to watch her pluck and genius will again demonstrate its superiority.

President Roosevelt will probably soon indicate his future attitude towards such statements of unimpaired practical mind as Mr. Quay, of Pennsylvania, says the Philadelphia Times Washington correspondent. The post office at York has been held by a Democratic Postmaster for a year after the expiration of his term owing to the fact that Quay and the anti-Quay factions in York have been at odds. The new Postmaster at York will be appointed next week, and Mr. Roosevelt will show whether he will "favor" the "organization" or the "reformers."

There is pitch in the Doylestown Republican a quarrel concerning the intelligence of the failure to bid on printing after kicking up the dust for the contract system. The Republican says:

"The problem Doylestown printers are trying to solve is how to induce the great number of contract printing, the intelligence of the failure to bid on printing after kicking up the dust for the contract system. The Republican says:

A correspondent of the Washington Evening Star, writing from Columbus, says there is a general opinion throughout the State of Ohio that Senator Hanna will retire from politics shortly. "His health has not been good for a long time," says the correspondent, "and the death of the President is proving a blow to him from which he is not likely to recover soon. He has grown five years older in appearance since the 6th of this month, and seems to have lost interest in national affairs. It is believed that he will be prevailed upon to resign his seat in the Senate through this winter, but will probably resign in time for the Legislature which meets this winter to choose his successor. This will be no doubt General Dink."

The Rochester campaign is being pushed with a great deal of activity in Philadelphia. Differing from most campaigns that heretofore have been waged in the name of "reform," the Union party has created a complete political machine and is conducting the campaign in a practical fashion. Every division in the city has been thoroughly organized. The work has been done under the supervision of men thoroughly trained in the school of practical politics. Alex. McClellan, who has been characterized as a prince of political jobs, is the glided head of the "reform" movement. Closely following McClellan, but in the shadow, is David Martin. E. A. Van Valkenburg, managing editor of the North American, and an old Quay lieutenant, is a potent part of the vital force that is cementing the opposition into a concrete mass with which it is hope to crush the crowd that now holds forth at the City Hall. James Gay Gordon, of unswerving judicial reputation, if Philadelphia papers are to be believed, also of the North American, is a director in the campaign. It is this thoroughly organized opposition that the Ashbridge machine fears. Sincere reform movements are a "clash" for the practical politicians.

Speculation is rife concerning the attitude President Roosevelt will take towards certain party leaders. Roosevelt is a reformer of the genuine sort. As governor of New York he displayed a firmness that made some of the men in control of the State organizations quake. Senator Platt wishes the re-appointment of Collector Bidwell. Bidwell has been a strong Roosevelt opponent. The President claims the post is to be forgotten. His eyes are set to the future. Naturally the President will desire the party's Presidential nomination in 1904, and with that in view he will have to pick his way cautiously among the State leaders and be careful not to step on any Senatorial toes.

The Philadelphia Ledger's Washington correspondent says that Ohio Republicans lately feel the loss of prestige their State suffers in the change of Administration. They see the stage of political action changed suddenly from Ohio to New York, and the Republican leaders of Ohio, who have been exceedingly influential at the White House for the past four years, relegated to the rear of the procession. They recall the fact that at the Philadelphia Convention last year Senator Hanna stood out to the last against the nomination of Mr. Roosevelt for Vice President, and acceded to the general popular demand for his nomination only when it seemed useless to hold out longer. In view of this, it seems quite probable that Senator Hanna will have much influence with President Roosevelt, though he may wish to carry out the desires of the late President absolutely in other regards. There is a large group of ambitious Republicans in Ohio who were counted on help from Washington during the next three years to put them in good positions, to whom the death of the President comes as a great personal loss. All over the State Republicans are to be found who were actively at work in political battles with some such objects as these in view, who suddenly feel that the incentive to work is gone.

NEWPORTVILLE.

Mr. and Mrs. William Betz of Oroydon, were Sunday visitors at E. C. Everitt's.

Miss Ethel March, of Norristown, has returned home after spending a week with Miss Nellie Everett.

A number of our young folks attended a surprise party at the residence of Ed. Jenkins, Cornwall, on Thursday evening last.

An interesting game of base ball was played here on Saturday when the home team crossed bats with Fallington, ending with the score 9 to 5 in favor of the home team.

Those visiting about town last week were Mr. Thomas Gill, of Hulmeville, Mrs. William Wiggins, of Camden, Mrs. James McNeel, of Philadelphia, Master Watson and Jose Davis, of Edgington.

A Sunday School rally will be given by the Newhampton M. E. Sunday School on Sunday evening October 13th, 1901. A good programme is being arranged by the entertainment committee. Every body invited.

LOWER BENSALEM.

Miss E. Palist, is visiting friends in Collegeville.

O. S. Vandergrift, who has been very ill, is reported improving.

Mrs. Susan Dugan and family have moved to the city for the winter.

The evening service will be at 7.30 at the Edgington Episcopal Church, Sunday next.

Miss M. Reynolds, of New Canaan, Connecticut, has been spending a few days with relatives in Bridgewater.

A very pleasant time was spent at the Y. M. C. A. hall Tuesday evening. The various games were in demand the entire evening.

James L. Johnson, living on a farm near Edgington died after two days illness at his home, Wednesday, September 26. Mr. Johnson was 79 years of age. The deceased was a vestryman of Christ Church Edgington.

Rev. Mr. Holmes and Rev. Mr. Benedict conducted the funeral services. The interment was made at Beechwood Cemetery, Hulmeville, Saturday. The family have the sympathy of their friends in their bereavement.

A private picnic was given at "The Bridgewater," Saturday, September 28. Guests were present from Philadelphia, Holmesburg, Byberry, Feasterville, Scott, and other places. Mr. Compellman and Mrs. Charles Barton were among the guests. Mrs. Barton was chaperon. The afternoon and evening was spent in the playing of games. A beautiful luncheon was served, which all partook heartily. After dinner speech was made by one of the gentlemen which received rapturous applause.

The three Senators who will occupy most attention in the next Congress will be Messrs. Platt, Hanna and Fairbanks. Senator Platt's relations with President Roosevelt are notoriously cool, nor has he made himself more popular at the White House with his recent declaration that "Roosevelt was an organization man at Albany and he will be an organization man at Washington."

Mr. Roosevelt's honorable ambition looks to a renomination in 1904. He will hardly win the confidence of his fellow citizens by a line of conquest which will vindicate Mr. Platt's arrogant boast. Mr. Hanna is in a peculiar position. He has pleased him to express in various interviews recently his loyalty to Mr. Roosevelt. Mr. Hanna's power in the Senate has passed away. Never popular among his colleagues, he has now lost the only means by which he was enabled to maintain his power. The national Republican committee of which he is chairman is at no intents and purposes dead.

No office-holder will seek his influence to obtain reappointment, because President Roosevelt has already declared that no such influence is necessary. Politicians are practical men. With them the strongest element in the virtue of gratitude is a lively sense of the future. They are quick to understand that Mr. Roosevelt will not consult Mr. Hanna in future and that his title of Warlock has now before it the most dismal little word in the English language—"ex."

Mr. Fairbanks will be regarded by thoughtful people with that gentle sympathy that is due a man whose ambitions and plans have received a staggering blow. In spite of the interesting story that Mr. Hanna intended launching his own Presidential team at the dinner which was to be given at his house when the President would be his guest immediately after the election, all information here is agreed that Mr. Fairbanks was President McKinley's choice for the Republican nomination in 1904. How quick Mr. Fairbanks has been to grasp the situation that his friends here have so strongly advised him to put forth in some official way the announcement that his boom for the nomination in 1904 has been withdrawn.—Philadelphia Times.

Dr. VanArman, who was a candidate for Congress on the Democratic ticket in opposition to Mr. Wanger, says that he has a long memory and that he has not forgotten the attitude assumed by Judge Yates when the Doctor was a candidate. Dr. VanArman has the misfortune to belong to that faction of the Democratic party which worshipped at the shrine of the "peerless leader;" that faction which was arraigned in vehement though eloquent language by the distinguished jurist of Bucks county during the 1896 campaign.

News of the County

DOYLESTOWN.

The Gazette and the Bristol Board of Trade have been compiling a list of the industries and interesting pamphlet recently sent out describing the industries and resources of the town. The illustrations are especially good, and the book will be preserved as descriptive of an interesting section of the county.

At a meeting of Doylestown storekeepers held Monday evening it was decided to discontinue closing stores at 8 o'clock on Tuesday and Thursday evenings each week during the winter. The storekeepers had followed this plan during the summer and found that it did not result in loss of business, and gave them the full leisure. They concluded that it would not be profitable to do so in winter.

The Delaware has been the resort of Doylestown anglers for the past few weeks. Many have made fine catches of bass and sunfish. There are several devotees of the rod and reel here who are very expert. The fact that former President Cleveland the other day has made that place more popular than ever, as the ex-President is a judge of good fishing grounds.

General Davis has received in printed form suitable for framing a record of the action of City Councils of Charleston thanking him for a flag presented to the city through its representatives at the recent Southern Industrial Convention. The banner was the signal flag of the Confederate ram Olmstead, sunk at the surrender of Charleston. It was given to General Davis when the ship was raised and his presentation of it to many years after to representatives of the city assembled in Philadelphia was one of the dramatic incidents of the convention.

The Sixth District Sunday School Convention was held in the Presbyterian Church here on Thursday last. There was a large attendance. Addresses were made by Rev. W. H. Zwillich, Doylestown; Miss A. S. Harlow, Rev. Edward M. Potest and Rev. C. R. Blackall, of Philadelphia. According to the secretary's report there are 18 schools in the district, 180 teachers and 1832 pupils. The following officers were elected: President, Rev. R. M. LeBarre; vice president, A. J. Miller; secretary, Elizabeth McCarther; treasurer, A. S. Gruver, Executive committee, Rev. C. R. Blackall, Doylestown; Rev. W. H. Zwillich, Doylestown; Miss A. S. Harlow, Doylestown; Rev. E. M. Potest, Doylestown; Rev. C. R. Blackall, Doylestown. The delegates of the Lutheran Sunday school offered their church as the next place of meeting.

Town Council at a special meeting Monday evening considered the amendment to the ordinance granting the right of way to north Main street to the Eastern Traction Company. Instead of adopting the amendment Council decided to notify the rival company, the Doylestown and Willow Grove, to complete its road on the street named to the borough limits. The latter company had secured the right of way to the limits but occupies only a portion of the route, and the Eastern Company desired to obtain possession of the unoccupied portion of the route. Council decided to grant the right of way to two companies on the same street so it was decided to compel the Willow Grove Company to complete its line. This the latter company intended to do, so there is very little change in the situation. The only thing that will settle the difficulty will be an amicable agreement between the two corporations, which will no doubt be reached in time.

Samuel Young, a well-known resident of Doylestown, whose occupation was teaming, was found dead in the road leading to Cross Keys to Pool's Creek. The northern boundary of the borough on Monday afternoon. Young, accompanied by a man named Elwood Youells, was observed to drive past a residence on the road, at which time both were riding on the seat of the wagon. Later Young was found dead. Youells could not give a clear account of what had happened, as he was intoxicated. He says he drove some distance before he missed Young, who was riding on the seat of the wagon. He also said and bruised. The supposition is that both men were drunk. Young was an industrious and very decent man when sober, but inclined to drink to excess. Both Youells were both in the prohibited class, and Young's death may result in another investigation similar to that in the Larsen case at Jamison. Deputy Coroner Clement made the preliminary inquiry on Monday afternoon. No clear statement could be obtained from Youells at the time owing to his condition. Deputy Clement finally decided that under the circumstances it would be best to hold an inquest, which took place Wednesday afternoon.

At the Coroner's inquest there was abundant evidence to show that both men were drunk. The jury found that Young came to his death by falling from his wagon while intoxicated and that he had been furnished liquor by Harry McDord at the Cross Keys Hotel. The jury also censured Mr. and Mrs. Robert Beatty for employing such an incompetent person as McDord.

The fashion in which printers make their estimates on contract work is shown in the bids for election printing received by the County Commissioners at a meeting held on Monday. For the ballots and blanks the bids were as follows:

	Ballots.	Blanks.	Blanks.
Republican,	$266.47	$134.40	$400
Democrat,	$250	$130	$350
Intelligencer,	$298	$140	$425

The Democrat was awarded the contract. Bids were also received for printing 170 check lists, 170 registration books and 114 Assessment transcripts. Among the bidders was a Doylestown book binder. The bids were as follows:

	Check Reg.	Trans. To Lists.	Books.	Trans. To Lists.
Intelligencer,	$28	$35	$5	$61
Republican,	$25	$30	$5	$56
Democrat,	$22.50	$27.50	$113	$160
Joe Steiner,	$15	$20	$10	$100
Q't'n's Times,	$25	$23.50	$3	$111

It will be noticed that the Republican and Intelligencer did not bid on the transcripts. They have had experience with this work. There is no money in it, and the practical printers think they will lose money on the contract. The Quaker Times is likely to lose even more on the transcripts. The strange part of the whole matter is the declaration of the Intelligencer to bid on the transcripts, and the contract system for years, but this incident, taking into consideration its high bids for other work, indicates that it has decided that contract system sounds very nice, and is very true. More so, the eye unimpaired, the natural force unabated." It is in the stomach that the blood is made. It is from the stomach that nourishment is dispensed to nerve and muscle. If the stomach is "weak" it can't do its whole work for each part of the body. If it is diseased the disease will taint the nourishment which is distributed, and so spread disease throughout the body. It is the realization of the importance of the stomach as the very center of health and the common source of disease, which led Dr. Pierce to prepare his "Golden Medical Discovery."

"Disease which originates in the stomach must be cured through the stomach." The soundness of this theory proved every day by cures of dyspepsia, heart, liver, lungs, blood, by the use of the "Golden Medical Discovery," which is a safe and singly a medicine for the blood and organs of digestion and nutrition. It is a temperance medicine containing no alcohol, whiskey or other intoxicant.

TULLYTOWN.

Wallace Miller, formerly of this place, now of Philadelphia, was a visitor in town last Sunday.

The new curb has been delivered on Main Street and is being put in place under the supervision of Street Commissioner William Peters.

The Bell Telephone Company has established an exchange here, and the switchboard and other necessary equipment is being installed in the post office. Several new subscribers are anticipated.

Miss Hanna Burton sister of the late John Burton died at the residence of A. B. Shoemaker last Monday morning at about 4 A. M. The body was removed to the residence of Mrs. John Burton where the funeral services will be held to-day.

Foreman William Dunk, of the Pennsylvania Railroad is unusually active here. This division is one of the finest on the railroad and usually carries off one of the big prizes for the best lived and surfaced track.

A Harvest Home supper will be held under the auspices of the Christian Church at the Rod Men's Hall next Saturday evening. The price of admission and supper will be twenty-five cents. Roast pig and spring chicken will be the principal items on the bill of fare and the managers guarantee that the supper will be worth more than the price asked. The proceeds are to go for the benefit of the church.

Rumors of the probable suspension of business of the Campbell Web Company's factory a few weeks ago were happily without foundation, for the factory is still running at full time with lots of orders ahead. The above factory, A. B. Shoemaker's grist mill, the Tullytown paint works and the Egely green houses are the main industrial establishments of the place, the first and last mentioned, especially employing a large percentage of Tullytown's labor. Poor as the town is in industrial establishments, it can ill afford to have any one of them "shut down" and its labor unemployed.

Fair week in this town generally means a trip for a majority of the men, women and children to the Jersey capital. Outside of the general interest in the greatest agricultural fair of this section, the farmers of the vicinity are nearly all personally interested in agriculture exhibits. The center of the fair is still the county fair, and the county fair is still the county fair, and the county fair is still the county fair.

Lythite cold water paint, sold by W. F. Leedom. All colors, does not crack or peel off, is very durable. When mixed with oil cost only thirty-five cents per gallon.

PENN VALLEY.

Master John Winter, of Philadelphia, was visiting at John Panoosian's and David Daley's last week.

Mr. and Mrs. John C. Carter were guests of their son, Charles P. Carter, of Ridge-wood, N. J., from Saturday to Monday.

On Saturday evening fifty friends and relatives of Mr. and Mrs. Joshua Bateman met at their home, the event being a social gathering, with the addition of a bonfire in the center of the road. Mrs. Winter being renowned for managing and driving fast horses exerted her utmost skill to proceed peacefully on her way but without success. The Queen approved and there ensued a heated argument. It looked serious for a time, the Queen complimenting Mrs. Winter in a very flattering manner, whereupon Mrs. Winter bade them return from whence they came, but they seemed well satisfied in the land of the tree, as the King replied:

"No moah my Lord, No moah my Lord. Never 'tend to go back to Egypt land. No moah."

Application is to be made to the Court of Quarter Sessions of Bucks county by William C. Mayne, Esq., in behalf of the residents of Bristol township, to erect two separate townships contemporaneous with the two election districts in this township. The petition in this matter was signed by nearly every resident in the east election district, who, averring that they labor under great inconvenience by reason of the undue size of the present boundaries of this township, claim that it would be greatly to their advantage to have erected separate townships.

The residents of the west election district seem equally anxious to join in this application of their eastern neighbors and a petition is now being circulated to that effect, and it is proposed to hold a township meeting in the near future to further discuss the advisability, and adopt ways and means of obtaining these desired results. At present the election maps are being prepared, and the primary meetings are being held at either Emille or Newportville, and the consequent difficulty in attending places of meetings so far remote from the different parts of the township is a serious matter, which has caused the electors to seek this change.

Again, as the only township office which would be materially affected by this change was the Supervisor, who are disposed to divide up their duplicates and work on the lines of the present election districts, it would seem that as the law provides for the decreasing of the Supervisors, so that each township can elect one Supervisor, that the electors may be able to arrange, if successful in their efforts, for these changes at the next spring election, second Tuesday of February next.

ATTLEBORO.

Miss Alice Lukens has returned from a visit to Ambler.

George Thompson was visiting Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Morry was given Master Henry Stockton on Saturday evening last at his home at Crescent and Centre streets. The guests were Messrs. Gustave Rumpf, William Hawk, John Sonder, Jr., Christian and Albert Bauer, Charles Melzer, Gertrude Pooley, Carrie MacDonald, Bertha Beth, Mary, Lena and Gustie Stockton.

Mrs. A. E. Hibbs will lead Christian Endeavor on Sunday evening.
Alexander Dixon and family, of Bensalem, spent Sunday in this neighborhood. The farmers in this neighborhood are getting the potatoes are of good size and fair.
Several of the farmers have secured winter help from the Carlisle Indian Industrial School, during the past two weeks.

Robert Lorimer was the guest of Col. John McKee at his residence in Philadelphia on Sunday.

Harry DeFrigo, of Philadelphia, spent Sunday at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Sinclair.

J. Randall, a prosperous farmer of Oroydon, has fully recovered from a recent attack of the grippe.

Mrs. M. F. Kessler and Emma M. Kessler have been spending a few days with relatives in Philadelphia.

Miss Anita Campbell, formerly of College Park, now of Philadelphia, was the guest of Master Robert Neely on Sunday.

Mrs. Thomas Duffield and Mrs. Henry H. Jones spent Friday afternoon with Mrs. C. S. Vandergrift, of Edgington, whose husband has been seriously ill.

Mrs. Francis Minner's boarders have nearly all left, after spending a delightful summer at China Hall, and have arranged their respective rooms for next season.

If foreman John Seabrooke still continues his rapid progress, the completion of Henry H. Jones' new green house at "Shenwood Grove" is anticipated within ten days.

Robert H. Neely, Jr., has recently purchased a portion of the large poultry plant, formerly occupied by the firm of Smith and Neely, and is making preparations for squab raising in the near future. He has already secured from the reliable factor, William F. Allen, several pairs of his 500 mile silk ribbon diploma winners, and it is believed that as he has served a number of years with his father at practical poultry raising he will become the leading fancier in West Bristol township.

A merry party went on a straw ride from the Sherwood Grove tenant house last Saturday morning to Dunns Ferry. The party would not have been so enjoyable had it not been for the unrelenting rain that set in and gave them all a complete drenching. The participants were nearly all married guests from the locality with the exception of the Misses Emille and Ida Winder, of Oroydon. The young ladies found no trouble in being beautifully supplied with chaperons.

Queen Hephaistia, of the gypsies that were encamped at the forks of the River and State roads, called upon the young bachelor of Oroydon, G. B. Allen, one day last week and insisted upon looking into the dark realms of the future. What she saw made the young man's hair curl and his heart beat. She was to take upon himself the awful responsibility of a wife and in due time a family of thirteen or a baker's dozen would follow. This valuable bit of information cost the young man the price of two watermelons.
